Fifteen certified public accountants, attorneys and life underwriters have accepted invitations to speak at the 12th Tax Institute sponsored by the University of Montana Law School. The institute will be Dec. 2 and 3 in Missoula.

Institute Director Professor Lester Rusoff said tax experts from throughout Montana and from Denver and Seattle will address the 100 expected participants.

According to Prof. Rusoff, the program will include topics of interest to lawyers, accountants, insurance underwriters and trust officers.

Among the speakers will be Billings attorney John M. Dietrich, Jr., a 1949 graduate of the University Law School. He will present the advantages and disadvantages of incorporating family ranches. The discussion will consider the question from the standpoint of current operations and for operations following the death of the principal owner.

Chartered Life Underwriter William M. Graham of Great Falls will discuss buy and sell agreements for professional partnerships. The Stanford University graduate is with Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Denver C.P.A. Regis P. Malloy, who will speak on subchapter "S" of the Internal Revenue code, is a lecturer in income tax at Regis College. He has participated in tax institutes at the University of Denver.

Applications are being mailed this week to tax consultants on the institute rolls. Forms will also be available in Montana banks for anyone wishing to attend.
